NATO sends F-16s to attack inside Russian borders. Did Stoltenberg just declare war on the world's largest nuclear power?
Imagine Russia sending fighter jets to attack the US, as defence for any of the countries the US currently bombs or illegally occupies

NATO has allowed Ukraine to attack Russia with F-16s – Stoltenberg

Kiev will be able to use the fighter jets outside its claimed borders, the bloc's head has said

Once Ukraine receives F-16 fighter jets it will be free to use them against military targets inside Russia, NATO Secretary General Jens Stoltenberg has said.

Stoltenberg's comments were made in an interview to Radio Liberty, the US government-funded broadcaster, which is scheduled to air on Friday. According to snippets released in advance, the NATO head argued that Ukraine has the right to self-defense against Russian "aggression," which would include "striking legitimate Russian military targets outside Ukraine."
